Give court reporters & sales reps online access to their clients' job calendars

Give reporters right of first refusal on their clients' job requests

If you have court reporters or other resources who brought their own clients with them, keep them happy with RB Web's Client Of plug-in. It gives your resources the ability to view their clients' pending jobs so they can request the assignments. It also gives your sales reps the ability to view their clients' scheduled jobs.

Resources can see job requests made by their clients before they are assigned with a special calendar filter in RB Web called Client Of.

Court reporters and sales reps can quickly view only their clients' jobs in their RB Web online calendar.

Give sales reps a way to track their clients

Similarly, sales reps can select the Sales Rep calendar filter to see a calendar of their clients' scheduled jobs.

Both resources and sales reps can view complete job details on the listed requests, including driving directions. If a court reporter or other resource wants to request a specific job after viewing it, they simply click a button on the job detail screen.
